"What about your prospects this year?" I asked.

"The finest in the world," was the enthusiastic reply, "We are going to win. The Republicans are united better than ever before at this stage of the campaign, the Democrats are split in many factions and will never get together. If Judge Mann is rominated the anti-nvolibition prople will not give him hearty support, and if Tuckee- gets the romination the Democrate machine will turn him a cold shoulder. What more do we want?

"The Republican convention this year will be the largest held in the State in years, We are standing off and looking on."

Mr. Slemp will return here to-night. He has been in Southwest Virginia on business both of a personal and political will be the a personal and political.

Brunswick Democrats Declare for Return to the Jeffersonian pie, while prohibition, on the other hand, is the foundation of a paternalistic government.

3. We favor good roads, believing them to be potent factors in the material development of the State, but we believe that the expediency and necessity of constructing them should be decided by each county, and that the principle of local option should apply to the question of good roads, as well as to other matters pertaining to the welfare of the community.

We therefore suggest that the present road laws be so amended as to make bond issues by any of the counties of the State absolutely legal and constitutional, provided a majority of the qualified voters of any county vote in favor of their issuance.

4. We unqualifiedly favor public and universal education, believing that children should be educated at public expense to the point fat will best seeure the maintenance of law and order throughout the State, and be the means of reducing the prevalence of vice and crime, provided that funds for those laudable purposes can be obtained without imposing too great a burden on the taxpayers of the State.

a burden on the taxpayars of the State.

These we consider the paramount issues in the present campaign, and we demand that the Democratic nomines for a seat in the next House of Delogates shall make this his declaration of principles, upon which he shall stand, and shall so state his position publicly before any such nomination igsmade;
